

I, like many other people, feel that the do not call list in NJ should stay in place without any exceptions. Marketers call at all possible hours offering all sorts of products. Not only that, but they are also rude and inconsiderate if you tell them you are not interested. The advertising is already extremely aggressive everywhere, newspapers, TV, stores, streets, etc., why would I want to be 'abused' on the phone as well??? Thank you for considering my opinion!
